Waterfowl Hunting Regulations

General Provisions
Arthur R. Marshall Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge is one of a system of refuges administered by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service as a wintering area for migratory waterfowl. Regulated public hunting is an appropriate use of our waterfowl resources and is allowed on 30,000 acres of the refuge's 143,874 acres.

This leaflet contains special regulations that supplement state laws and Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations. The regulations are designed to maintain optimum waterfowl populations and, at the same time, provide a rewarding outdoor experience. Careful adherence to these regulations and due respect for others will ensure the future of waterfowl hunting on Arthur R. Marshall Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge.

General Hunting Regulations

With the exception of the special early experimental season (statewide) for wood ducks, in which Arthur R. Marshall Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge does not take part, the open season for ducks and coots is concurrent with seasons established by the State of Florida. Only ducks and coots may be taken on the refuge.

Emergency Information
Refuge emergency pager number 561/936 4100.

If you should become lost and/or stranded, please observe the following procedures which will aid refuge personnel in locating you.

Do not leave your boat in order to walk out. If you have broken down, try to paddle to the canal and get on the levee.

When your vehicle is found in the parking area at refuge closing time, we will begin our search and rescue procedures.

If you have a portable light, turn it on after dark. Even a cigarette lighter can be seen from a good distance.

During the first phase of the search, officers will drive the levees looking for you or your light.

If you are located from the levee, a boat, airboat, or aircraft, will be used to reach you. Continue to display your light.

During the daytime, signal the aircraft by attaching a cloth to your oar or a pole and waving it. The aircraft will direct an officer in an airboat to your location. As the airboat nears you, it will stop and turn off its engine. At that time, call and make noise to help the officer pinpoint your location.

In connection with the above procedures, we strongly urge that each hunter have a light, flare gun or flares which may be fired from a shotgun.

Hunt Closure
The waterfowl hunt at Arthur R. Marshall National Wildlife Refuge may have to be terminated early, or some of the hunt area closed, should unusual climatic conditions result in threats to visitor safety, possible degradation of habitat by visitor use, or a concentration of endangered species within the hunt area. The refuge's first obligation is to protect the visitor, habitat, and endangered species such as snail kites and wood storks.

Please Read This Important Message Attention Hunters!
Hunting on a national wildlife refuge is a privilege and your behavior while participating in this hunt may affect future hunting on refuges.

Every national wildlife refuge in this state provides habitat for several endangered or threatened species. Federal and State laws prohibit any activity that might harm endangered or threatened plants or animals. We believe that these hunts can be conducted without harming any endangered species and have taken certain precautions to make it so. We cannot, however, prevent irresponsible acts by hunters, and if such acts do occur, we may be forced to discontinue the hunts.

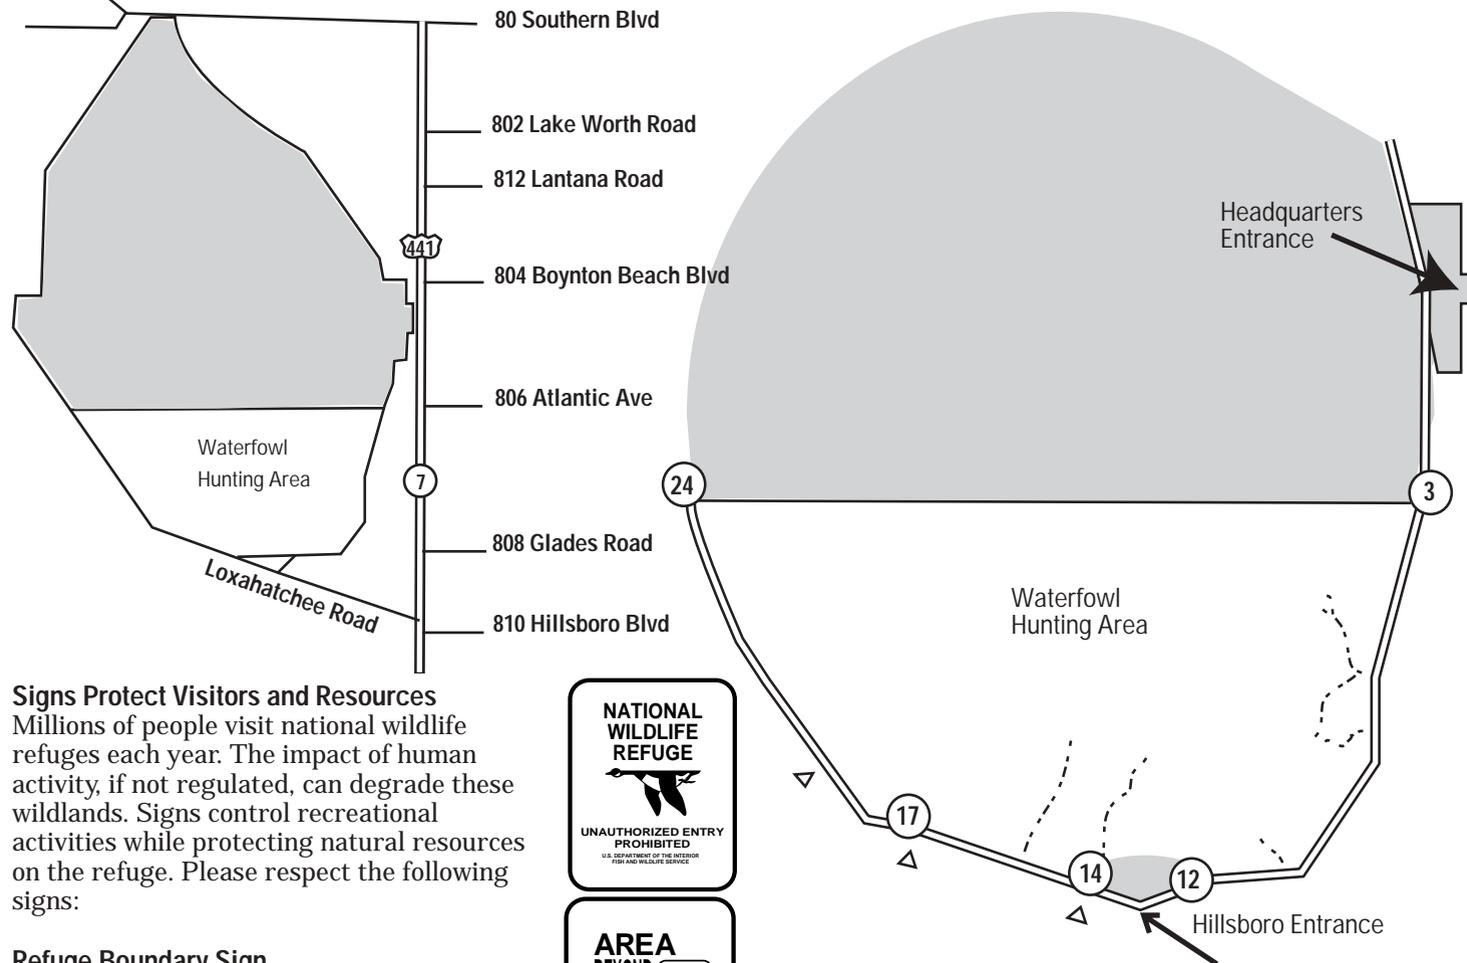

The following endangered or threatened species of wildlife may be found on Arthur R. Marshall Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge:

Federal and/or State Listed
Bald Eagle Crested Caracara
Eastern Indigo Snake Florida Panther
Florida Sandhill Crane Least Tern
Peregrine Falcon Snail Kite
Southeastern Kestrel Wood Stork

Remember! Your hunt permit authorizes you to take only ducks and coots. Harming or needlessly disturbing any other wildlife, including any alligators, birds, mammals, turtles, frogs, lizards and even poisonous snakes, is a violation of refuge regulations and is cause for prosecution.
